

We have focused our attention on a Labour Productivity Analysis and Modeling project as part of our response to COAA's theme, and we are looking forward to tangible outcomes that will assist us in identifying achievable ways of improving labour productivity, which most certainly is a piece to solving the much greater riddle of productivity as defined by the Roundtable.

Pictured left to right: Wayne Prins, Paul deJong, Dr. Aminah Robinson Fayek and PhD Candidate Abraham Assefa Tsehayae.